

CHANNEL CATFISH

The channel catfish is highly rated by many anglers because it bites hard and is very good to eat. It can be found in all kinds of freshwater habitats. Catfish feed mostly at night on insects and other fish. Whisker-like sensory barbels on the upper and lower jaw help the catfish to find its food in the dark.

