

OVER-FISHING

Over-fishing results when more fish are removed from a body of water in a single year than can be replaced through reproduction or hatchery stocking before the following year. Limits on fish may only be needed for some species.

